

FALL for St. Kitts
Book 7 nights, Pay for 5

via YouTube

Horseback Safari

8 of 14

Here's an epic itinerary for a safari on horseback, courtesy of Sandy Cunningham. "Start at Campi Ya Kanzi, a gorgeous camp with some of the best food in Africa. Then ride up through Hemingway's hills, all lush green and filled with absolutely amazing views. Camp up here two nights and then head down onto the plains, where you can overnight at my favorite plains camp, the Ol Donyo Lodge, for a dose of five-star comfort to round out your adventure."

Another approach: make your home base at the Singita Sasakwa Lodge, and you can spend each day exploring a different section of the property's 350,000-acre reserve in the Serengeti—all on horseback. Why simply spot zebras and giraffes when you can ride the open plains right alongside them?

Show Less

by Nikki Ekstein and Stephanie Wu September 1, 2015

Before the release of Taylor Swift's latest video, Wildest Dreams, all we knew was that it starred the dreamy Scott Eastwood, son (and lookalike) of actor Clint Eastwood. In true Taylor fashion, there were a ton more surprises once the video was unveiled at the VMAs. Directed by Joseph Kahn, Wildest Dreams recreates an Old Hollywood film shoot in Sub-Saharan Africa. It celebrates the beauty of a safari, and all proceeds will go to the African Parks Foundation of America. "We just found out over the weekend we were beneficiaries, and of course we are thrilled," a spokesperson said via e-mail.

We spoke to T+L's Super Agents and other experts on how to recreate the safari of Taylor's dreams. Do read on.